Admissions Ambassador Program

- Partnership between Admissions and Alumni Relations

- Manage all aspects of the alumni interviewing program:
  1. Recruiting alumni volunteers (interviewers and DEDs)
  2. Recognition and stewardship of volunteers
  3. Support the yield of admitted students
  4. Ongoing Mentorship… (?)

Mission

Leverage the strength and reach of the alumni network to assist in the recruitment and yield of prospective students, while serving as the face of Dartmouth in the local community and shaping perceptions of the College for prospective students and families.

How did your alumni interview impact your impressions of Dartmouth?

I absolutely adored my interviewer... She was one of the big reasons, I believe in my decision to commit to Dartmouth. I definitely suggest using interviews to reel in and help students even after they've been admitted.

I really liked my interviewer, as he was the most down-to-earth and genuinely caring young man who seemed very interested in my unique stories, origami artistry, and intellectual venture; he really represented the character of the college, which is the best I've seen out of all other colleges.

My Dartmouth alumni interviewer was the nicest interviewer out of everyone I met with (around 10-11 colleges/people). He really stood out as a caring, driven, and friendly representative of Dartmouth. He even met with me after my decisions were released to discuss my options and help me make a choice

I think, in the end, it was really the alumni, current students, and other prospies who pushed me to press the commit button. My interviewer did a lot of outreach with me, sending me emails about why I should choose Dartmouth and just generally being greatly supportive... The difference at Dartmouth, for me, was that I didn't just like the people I talked to. I really liked them. Those connections seemed much deeper than the ones I had made at my other college choices.
